Are you a Pre-K to 12th grade educator interested in experiential learning and the environment?

Please join us on January 19th for a laboratory workshop of fun explorations geared towards environmental education. "Eco-moves for Kids" workshop will give childhood educators an opportunity to discuss and explore lesson plans that would foster students' stewardship of the earth and social development via interdisciplinary coursework that combines creative movement with traditional classroom work. We intend to share at least one series of lesson plans that offer teachers ways of nurturing children's respect for their natural environments as well as respect for the diversity within their human communities. The project leaders from CKE will provide supportive materials such as current National (or state) Science Education Standards and sample environmental education syllabi for elementary school children.

We would greatly appreciate it if you would pass this information on to teachers other professionals who you know that may be interested in these programs.

Many Thanks,

Dr. Martha Eddy
